

Sales Professional

Bradnam's NZ business units are owned by National Aluminium Ltd (NALCO), a leading specialist designer of high quality aluminium window and door extrusions. Bradnam's have built a successful track record supplying leading national building companies throughout New Zealand with aluminium windows and doors.

We are looking for a self motivated sales professional with experience in the building industry who has a creative and enthusiastic flair as well as the strength and resilience to succeed.

This role is based in East Tamaki and is part of a professional results driven team who have a customer driven attitude with a focus on getting it right first time!

Applicants must have:

- A high level of self motivation and an overall drive to succeed
- Excellent communication and negotiation skills, both verbal and written
- A strong sales focus, gained within a technical or building related industry
- The ability to ensure customer satisfaction by providing reliable and superior service
- Initiative and a positive and proactive attitude
- The ability to build and maintain positive relationships with both internal and external customers
- Attention to detail and commitment to process

We acknowledge achievers and offer a competitive remuneration package including a company vehicle to the successful applicant.

Applicants must have the right to work and live in New Zealand.

Applications to be in writing only.
